Code of Ethics

I, as a student of Frank W. Cox High School, pledge:

To uphold the honor, integrity, and scholastic standing of my school.

To promote a spirit of loyalty and unity among my fellow students.

To take a genuine pride in the appearance of the school building and grounds.

To practice good citizenship, self-control, sportsmanship, and respect for authority.

Never to conduct myself in any manner unworthy of myself, my fellow students, or my school.

Like the mighty Falcon . . .

Constantly striving . . .

We soar upward . . .

Buzzy-
To a real neat
kid. It's been a

Dedication

This first publication of the TALON is dedicated to a man who has done more than any other individual to establish here at Cox a school with unshakeable foundations of leadership. We can't begin to suggest here the role he has played, but we can say that because of it we have come to know him as an indispensable part of Cox. Through seasons of growing pains, we have rallied under his ceaseless efforts of progress and his respected judgment. Always willing to assist others--his office is never closed to those wishing to enter for advice--his relations with students have come to be prized experiences. As much as he is the father of our school, he is also the devoted father of two children at his own home. He personifies the enviable characteristics associated with brilliance in leadership and scholarship.

Therefore, it is with a feeling of particular pride that Frank W. Cox High School recognizes this man by gratefully dedicating the '63 TALON to its first principal, Mr. Walter N. Carroll.

In Appreciation

This page is given to Mr. Frank W. Cox in appreciation of his leadership in our new city's public school system, his interest in the welfare of our school, and the things he has done to further the development of our community. No other individual except himself can possibly be fully aware of the vast extent to which he has exerted himself in order to make our school proud to hold his name. In return for his display of merit, we register a most solemn oath to make our school in his stead an unexcelled institution of leadership. Let us endeavor to make him as proud of us as we are of him.

The Principal's Message

January 30, 1963

Office of the Principal
Frank W. Cox High School

To The Students of Frank W. Cox High School,

This annual represents the combined efforts of the faculty and student body. It is designed to give you pleasant memories of the many activities in which you have been involved and to remind you of the part you are playing in molding this school.

You have exemplified a great deal of enthusiasm and a spirit of cooperation which will challenge the best in all that follow. My hope is that, as the years go by, each of you will feel that this school has been a vital part of your life. If so, the purposes of this school will have achieved some degree of success.

PARTICIPATION

To a sweet boy who I've enjoyed knowing this short year! Be good! your friend, Helen Twiford

President, Bill Sykes, seems to be happy about something. What is it Bill?

Just WHAT does go on after those I.C.C. -S.C.A. Executive Meetings?!

S. C. A. Develops "Through Enrichment"

The Student Cooperative Association is the backbone of all school functions. It is also the place where the privileges of self-government are exercised by the students. With the guidance of the faculty and the sponsorship of Mr. D. R. Baker --to whom we are most indebted for the spirit maintained at Cox--our Student Council has striven for the attainment of a better Cox High School. Our S.C.A.'s list of accomplishments this year defies all other S.C.A.'s to better them.

We have experienced a great diversity of activity, as is usually the case with a new school. Among the many things we find done are our S.C.A. constitution; establishment of an Inter-Club Council; a Code of Ethics; a Student Directory; a remodeled Student Activities Office; student assembly leadership; a S.C.A. scrapbook; and the first annual Leadership Conference. Synchronized activities are now out of the dreaming stages and have become fact.

We wish to recognize the loss of our first president, Ken Johnson, to Key West, Florida. His service to the school can never be over estimated, and we, everyone, recognize him for it once again.

Members of our celebrated S.C.A. Student Executive Committee.

Former president, Ken Johnson, presiding at mass meeting of representatives.

The Inter-Club Council Plans Activities

Essential to the proper development of any school is a council where individual representatives of school functions and activities may come and coordinate their activities to parallel each other's development. Such an organization in our school is the Inter-Club Council, and during the past year it has bloomed with an amazing array of achievement. Largely responsible for the success of the Inter-Club Council is the chairman, Dane Mills. Through the leadership of Dane, the sponsorship of Mr. D. R. Baker, and the support of every council member, Frank W. Cox High School has experienced a smooth-flowing, enriched school year.

Band Channels Self-Expression

The aims of the Frank W. Cox High School Band for the year were high--to discover and develop talent, to provide a fundamental background for future study, to develop a better use of leisure time, to develop an ability to merge individual ability with that of others, and to develop a new channel for self-expression.

Conlegium Latinum Strives For A Better Future Through The Study of the Past

The Latin Club, with it's motto "Melior Futura per Studium Antiquitates", (A Better Future through The Study of the Past), is a society formed to stimulate an interest in the classics, thereby developing historical and social culture. To further this end, various programs have been presented, including skits portraying customs of the Roman people and a series of excerpts from Shakespeare's play, JULIUS CAESAR, enacted by members of the club.

The Masthead Reads "The Coxswain"

Sally Wright, Editor in chief

Published ten times annually by the students of Frank W. Cox High School, The Coxswain reports of all school activities. Each year the Coxswain strives for improvement, ultimate perfection, and co-operation of the student body.

With the leadership of those students comprising the newspaper staff and the sponsorship of Miss Grim, our school newspaper has been quite successful in its job of keeping us informed of those events that affect us all.

Kappa Delta Phi Serves

One of this Tri-Hi-Y's many projects is the annual Valentine's Dance, "Cupid's Capers". Here Kappa Delta Phi swings!

The Kappa Delta Phi Tri-Hi-Y platform is based on contribution to the school and the community. As it is both a service and a religious organization, its many projects contribute to the fulfillment of each. The motto, "Christian thought, Christian action, and Christian leadership", develops the character of each girl as she strives to work with others for a finer community and a better world.

The Key Club (surnamed 'Industry and Leadership Unlimited') is a school, community, national, and international service organization, composed of those young men who show the highest caliber of intelligence, character, leadership, friendliness, ability, and a sincere desire to serve his fellow men.

This year has seen our Key Club win the coveted school 'Service Club of the Year' Award; sponsor the annual 'Holly Wreath Ball'; serve refreshments at all athletic activities; support the March of Dimes and other charities with funds; purchase a console television and movie screen for the school; conduct a Goodwill Industries campaign for the collection of repairable items; beautify the school grounds of Cox and its surrounding lands; donate books to the library; usher at various events; sponsor an annual 'Variety Show'; hold a parent-son banquet; sell Christmas candy for the Virginia Beach Kiwanis Club; participate in 'Courtesy Month'; and attend the convention at Roanoke, Virginia.

When first organized, our Key Club was the only one in existence composed of high school freshmen. Today it stands as one of the best-organized and best-operated Key Clubs in the entire network of them across the world.

Our Key Club shall remain Cox's repository of young men whose poise, tact, discretion, ability, and purpose will stamp them as the leaders of today's school and tomorrow's world.

'We Build' is our Motto . . .

Service is our Theme.

Pep Club Builds Morale

The Pep Club co-operates with the cheerleaders in maintaining enthusiasm and school spirit throughout school. "As members of the Frank W. Cox High School Pep Club, we pledge and dedicate ourselves to aid, in every way possible, in promoting good school spirit, sportsmanship and citizenship; to support our athletic teams; to abide by all rules and standards governing our lives at school so that we may be found worthy to be representatives and respected leaders of our school."

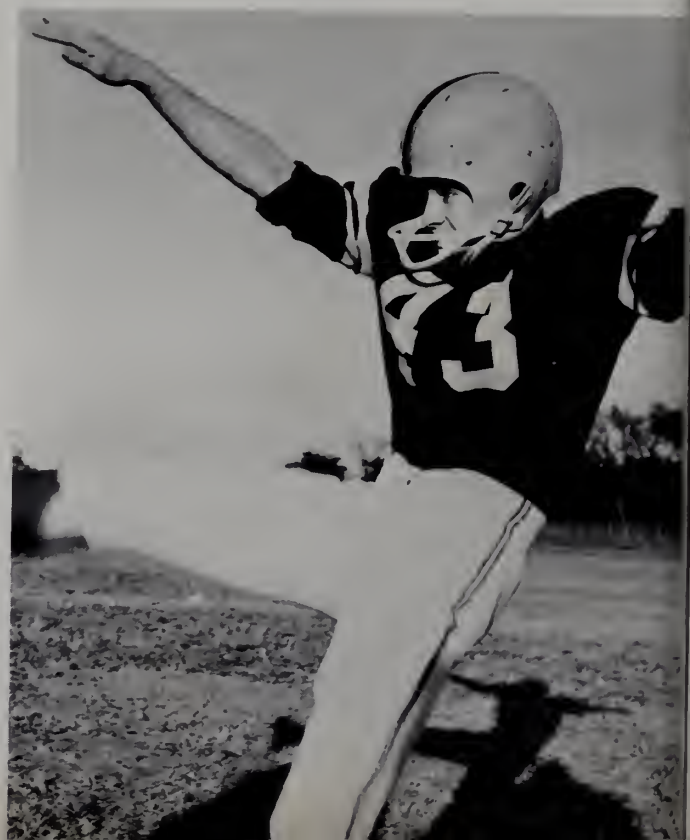
John Bolger
Co-Captain



Mr. Soles, while in high school, lettered in baseball, basketball, and football. He entered East Carolina College and played on the football squad, and also slugged his way playing baseball to all-conference honors as a sophomore and all-conference, all-state recognition in his senior year. After graduating from college, Mr. Soles joined the professional baseball ranks playing center-field. He then taught physical education and coached for nine years prior to his arrival here at Cox.

In 1962 he led the football Falcons to a winning campaign--very much improved over the '61 campaign. Many fine prospects for future honor on the gridiron were unveiled with the help of Mr. Soles' well-trained eye. Hopes for next year's season are high as we support Mr. Soles efforts to produce a team unmatched in other schools.

His work with the wrestling team this year has good reason to stand up and take a bow. Although his first season, he whipped a team together that has seldom been beaten, and has tasted victory throughout the district schools.

Coaches Spark Falcons

Mr. Stuart Holland is a native of Tidewater--born in Portsmouth. He attended Edenton High School and during his four years there he received athletic letters every year in baseball, football, and basketball. Mr. Holland favors football and entered East Carolina College on a football scholarship. Playing quarterback he obtained all-conference honors in his junior and senior years.

Since coming to Cox, Mr. Holland has aided Mr. Soles in producing two football teams. He himself has molded two highly successful and winning basketball teams.

Playing on a junior-varsity level, the '62-'63 basketball Falcons dropped only three contests, losing only to Barry Robinson and Norfolk Christian Varsity.

Mr. Holland predicts a strong '63-'64 campaign, if he "can keep the boys together."

CONTRIBUTIONS

Determination seems to be the watchword of Sarah Brittingham, chosen by the faculty as Most Outstanding Student among the girls of F. W. Cox High School. The Student Cooperative Association and the Inter-Club-Council owe much to Sarah's energy and abundance of original ideas.

Outstanding Teenagers

Brad Stillman-youngest Key Club President in the United States-is also one of the busiest students at Frank W. Cox High School. His various activities keep him at school so often that he is practically a fixture to his fellow students and teachers. His infectious grin and ready-to-help attitude illustrate why he was chosen Outstanding Student among the young men.

Mr. and Miss Pre-Freshman Class of 1963

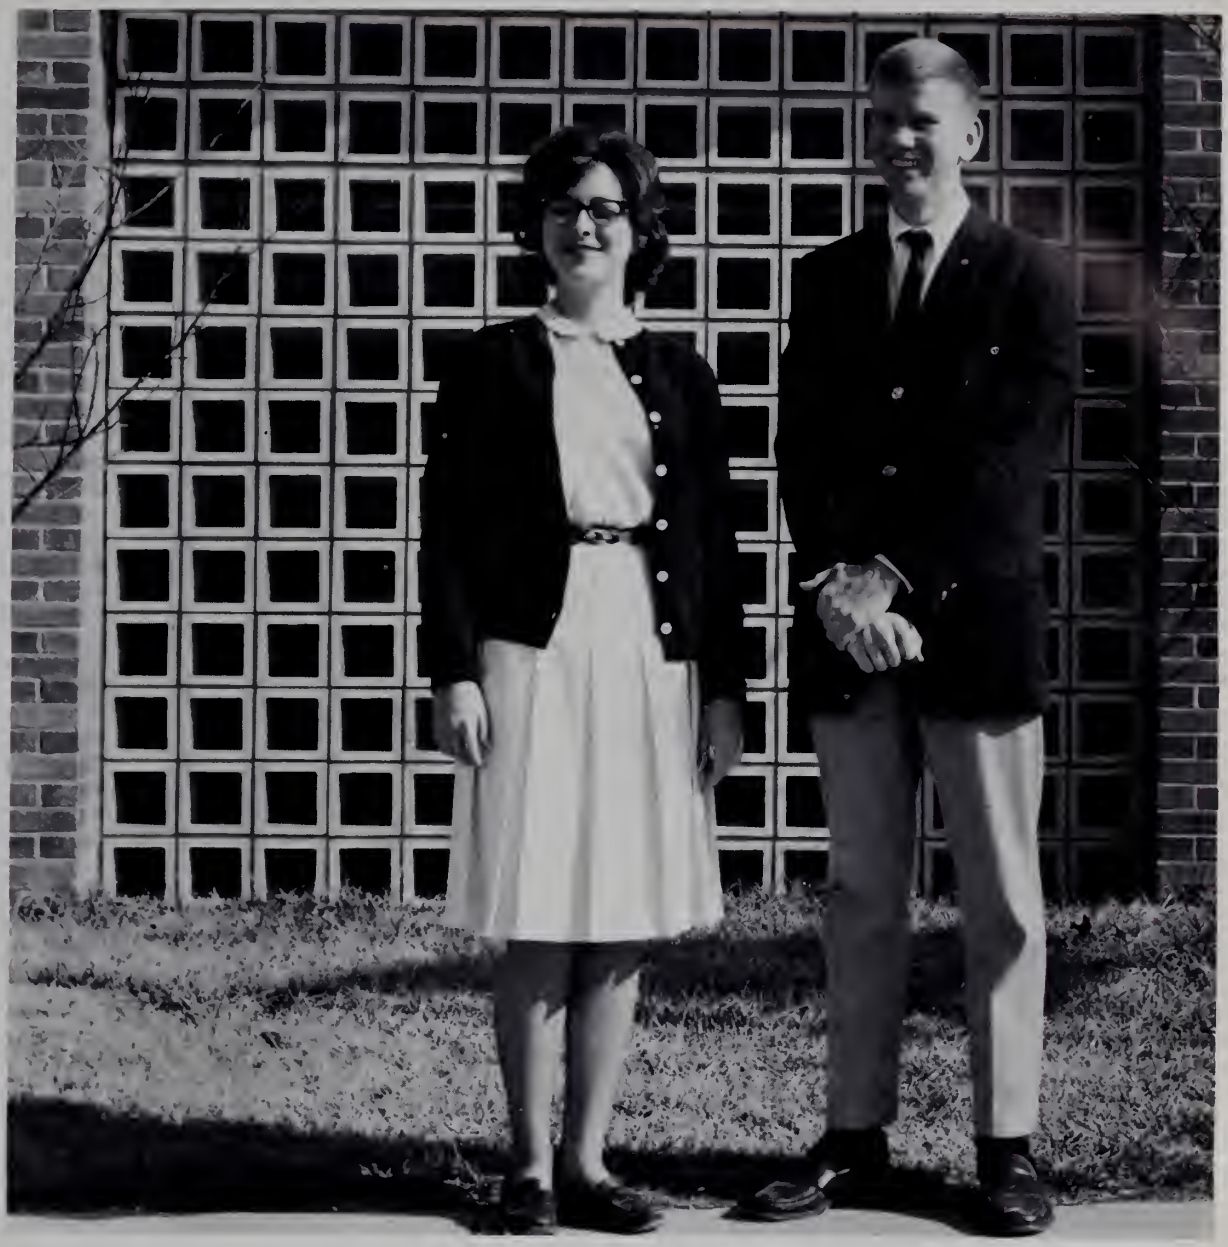
A well-rounded Texan holds the title of Miss Pre-Freshman. Sue Wood, interested in science and math, hopes to teach elementary school.

An honor roll student, Norfolk's David Brown enjoys studying science. He aspires to attend Annapolis Naval Academy and become a naval officer.

Mr. and Miss Freshman Class 1963

Miss Freshman Class is Nancy Holland--a pretty honor roll student and President of the Amicitia Y-Teens. Hard working and conscientious, Nancy is welcomed at any school function. Well-liked by the teachers because of the courtesy and respect she accords them and by the students because of her personality, she is indeed a great asset at Cox.

Bennett Haines, Mr. Freshman Class, is noted for his outstanding school spirit and the great enthusiasm he exhibits at all school activities. Vice-President of the freshman class, Bennett also shows much leadership ability. His cheerful disposition and friendliness make him a well-rounded personality as well as one of the most popular students at Cox.



Mr. and Miss Sophomore Class 1963

Unusual because of her extraordinary combination of attractiveness and intelligence, Dawn Cole has personality-plus and is one of the most friendly and congenial individuals to be found. She is musically talented and plays the piano with competence. A member of the chorus, the annual staff, the Kappa Delta Phi, Tri-Hi-Y, and most significantly the National Honor Society, Dawn is among the prominent leaders of our school.

Mr. Sophomore Class for 1962-63 is Brad Stillman--one of the friendliest members of the student body at Cox. Having been President of the Key Club for two years, Brad is an able leader of our student body and won the "Most Outstanding Leadership" Award for 1961-62. Participation in the Student Council and an active interest in sports cause him to come in contact with most of the students at Cox, who consider him a familiar sight at the school grounds after classes. His great sense of sportsmanship and fair play is evident not only on the football field and basketball court but in everything he does. A strong sense of humor rounds out his personality, and coupled with his congeniality shows why he is the outstanding person we know.
